Introduction

Essential Skills for Word Processing: MS Office Word 2007

- This manual is designed to assist learners in the Adult Literacy and Employment Preparation Program with the skills needed to understand and use MS Word 2007.
- This manual is designed to be an independent, self-guided handbook but can also be used in a group setting.
- Learners should follow the book in the order it is written and complete each review activity before continuing to the next lesson.
- Demonstration activities are included in the manual as well as a demonstration log at the end of this guide.
- Learners should receive a USB (memory stick) from their instructor to save the activities for this course.
- Although the mouse and keyboard are discussed in this manual, instructors may want to ensure that learners have a good working knowledge of the mouse and keyboard before beginning this course. There are many online mouse tutors and typing programs available.
- Learners may need some extra help with the basic computer terminology, for example: scroll, cursor and toolbar. Instructors should check in with the learners in the beginning to be sure that all vocabulary is clearly understood.
- Learners should complete the surveys at the beginning and end of this course.

Getting Started: The Parts of a Computer

The CPU is the brain of your computer.

The Computer Continued

An output device is something that gives you information from the computer.

For example: a monitor shows the user what the computer is doing and a speaker brings the sound out from your computer to you.

Output Devices

An input device is anything that takes information from you and puts it into the computer.

For example: a scanner sends an image of a photograph or document into the computer.

Input Devices

Using the Mouse

Holding the Mouse

1. Place three fingers on the mouse.
2. The thumb and little finger are on each side.
3. Rest your index finger on the left button.
4. Rest your ring finger on the right button.
5. Place your centre finger over the “scroll wheel” buttons.
6. You do not have to grip the mouse tightly.

Moving the Mouse

The mouse will move with your hand.

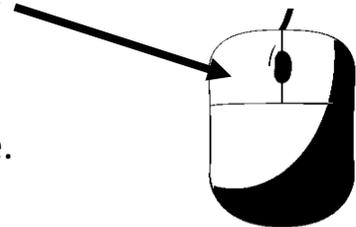

1. Move your hand forward to move cursor up the screen.
2. Move your hand back to move cursor down.
3. Move your hand left or right to move cursor.

Clicking the Mouse

You can click the mouse with your finger.

1. Click the left button on your mouse one time.
2. Click it one time.

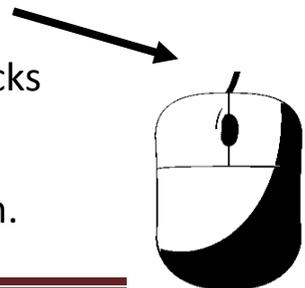

One click

Double Clicking the Mouse

1. Put your index finger over the left mouse
2. Press up and down twice quickly on the left button.

Two clicks

Opening Microsoft Word 2007

1. Look for Microsoft Word 2007 icon on your start screen.

2. Double click on the Word 2007 icon:

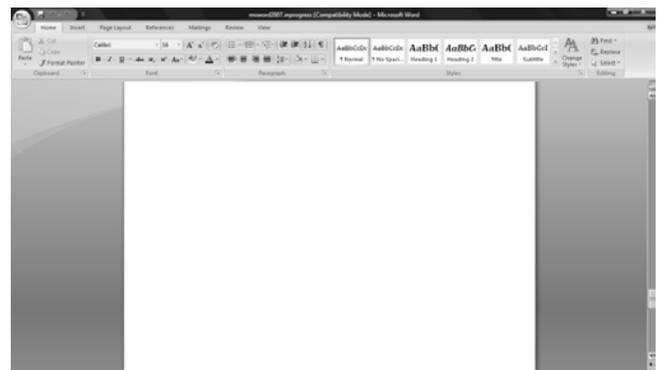

3. If your desktop does not have an icon, you can open Word by clicking on the Start Menu at the bottom left of the screen.

4. This menu will open:

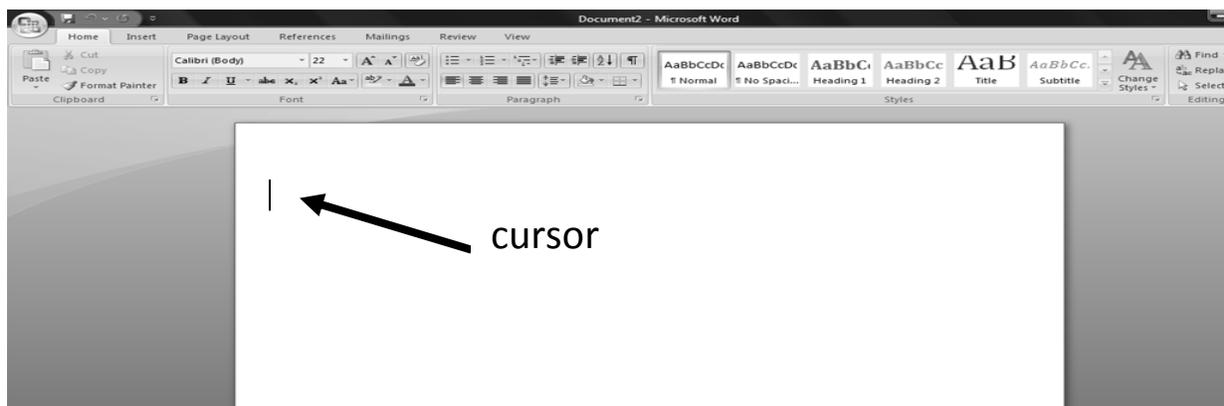

5. Select the MS Office Word 2007.
6. You will see the Word 2007 screen:

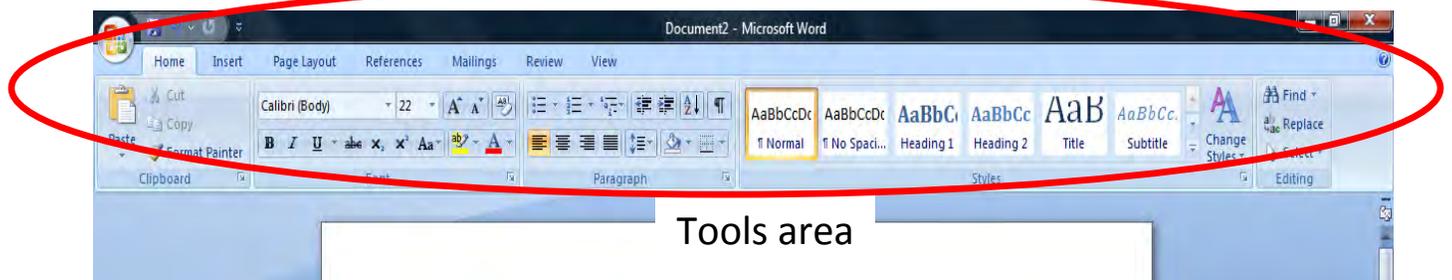

The Cursor

The cursor is the line on your screen.

1. The cursor shows you where you will start typing in a Word document.
2. The cursor looks like this | and it flashes.

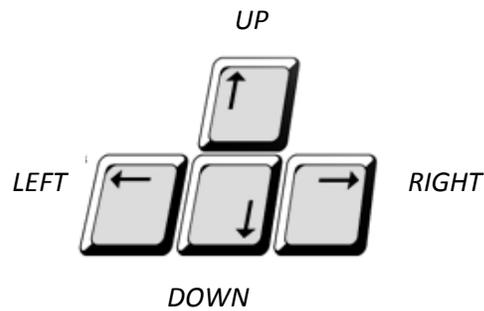

3. When you are using the Tools in Microsoft Word your cursor will change to an arrow. This is called a pointer.

Using the Keyboard in MS Word

The arrow keys on your keyboard move your cursor around.

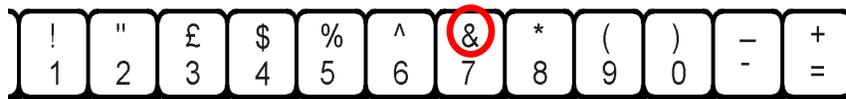

The arrows move this way:

To make a letter a capital letter

Hold down  and the letter key  at the same time

For the signs on your keyboard

Hold down  and the number key  at the same time

The shift keys are on both sides of the keyboard.

More on the Keyboard

The “Space bar” makes spaces between words when typing.

Tap the bar one time to make a space.

Use the  key to move your cursor to the next line.

Use the  key to go back to the line you were on. The Backspace key also deletes everything to the left of the cursor.

The  key will erase everything to the right of the cursor.

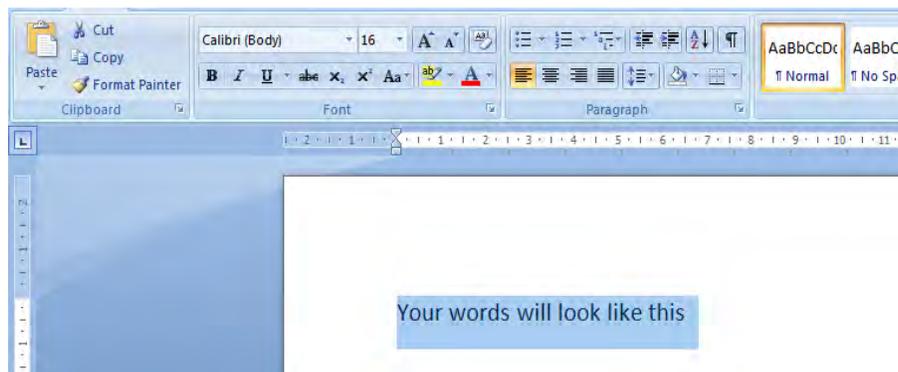

To make the cursor go to the end of the line press .

To make the cursor go to the start of a line press .

Protecting your Health

This time of year many viruses can pass from person to person. They can be contagious. We all have to try not to pass germs or colds along when we have them. We also need to protect ourselves from catching a virus.

A virus spreads mostly through coughing, sneezing and touching. People can have a mild dose of a virus but these germs can also be very serious, especially for people over 65, children under 6 and pregnant women.

H1N1 is an example of a serious virus. It was first reported in April of 2009. It was called the “swine flu”.

Here are some tips on how to cope with flues and colds:

- Wash your hands often with soap and water for 20 seconds. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand gel.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose or mouth. Germs spread this way.
- Try to avoid close contact with sick people.
- Cover your mouth when you cough or sneeze.
- Stay home when you are ill.

Additional Activities

Congratulations, you have now completed the Essential Skills for Word Processing. You have the skills needed to perform the basic tasks of document creation. As you move forward with your new skills, you will have to start using them in everyday life. In this section, you will be asked to create documents using those skills you have just learned. If you have any difficulties, refer back to the section that explains how to use the tools you need.

To challenge you, you will be asked to “create” your own version of the activities using your own words to complete the activities below.

There are many reasons to create a document using Word. Writing letters, simple posters, invitations, agendas for meetings, memos to other staff members are all examples of creating documents in everyday life.

The internet or resources in your classroom are great sources for examples of the different types of documents you will be creating. Feel free to use any that will help you to complete the activities.

Activity 1: Letter to Thank a Gift Donor

You have just attended a volunteer banquet and won one of the prizes available. You are to write a letter to the company who donated the prize – Rebecca’s Family Restaurant, to thank them for the $50.00 gift card.

Type your letter and remember to format it as you go:

1. Type the date you are writing the letter (right justified)
2. Type the donors name and address (left justified)
3. Type your salutation – Dear....
4. Type the body of your letter. (mention the event you attended to win the prize) Include a thank you
5. Optional (you may want to add a personal note about how you will use the gift)
6. Type the closing regard – “Sincerely” or “Yours Truly”
7. Leave 3 spaces to sign your name
8. Type your name
9. Save to your USB memory stick as “Thank you letter”
10. Print a copy

Activity 8: Cover Letter

A cover letter is a document you write and send with your resume. It is an opportunity for you to explain in greater detail parts of your resume. It allows you to highlight specific skills you may have which would give you an advantage. Take today's paper, choose a job listed and apply for it. You will write a cover letter to accompany your resume.

Your letter should include;

1. Today's date
2. Recipients/company address
3. Reference the specific job and include the position and job number (RE: Marketing Director - Job #23654).
4. Salutation – Use the person's name and always use Mr. or Ms. unless you know the woman is married then use Mrs. Never say "Dear Sally" even if you know the person very well.
5. First paragraph – Explain that you are writing to apply for the job. (include job title and job number)
6. Second paragraph – Explain which skills you have that make you the best person for this job.
7. Third paragraph – Ask for an interview and thank the reader for taking the time to consider your application.
8. Closing salutation (eg: "Sincerely" or "Truly") and your signature (make sure you sign your letter)
9. Attach a copy of your resume

Note: Your cover letter should never be more than one page. Interviews are your chance to really sell yourself.

10. Save to your USB memory stick as "Cover Letter"
11. Print a copy
12. Close

Tip: Your choice of paper says a lot about you. Using coloured or heavy paper works well depending on the job you are applying for. Soft colours separate your resume from the others printed on white paper. Never use cute cartoon or flower paper because they may think you not taking the job seriously.

Skills needed in Activity #8:

- Job Searching
- Writing
- Formatting
- Justification
- Font Selection
- Printing
- Saving to USB

Activity 9: Resume Writing

A good resume is a “snapshot” of your education and your skills. The jobs you list prove that you have done work that would use those skills. When you apply for a job, your chances of getting the job are based on how well you “fit” the job and the way you present your information.

Your resume will include:

1. Your name at the top in bold
2. Your address and phone number. (including a cell # and email – as many ways as an employer could reach you)
3. Heading #1 in bold - “Objective”
4. State what you are aiming to do

5. Heading #2 in bold - “Education”
6. List your education in order (from earliest to most recent. Include the institution, the dates attended and the courses taken)
7. Heading #3 in bold - “Skills”
8. List your skills (eg: Proficient use of computers or Can operate a backhoe)
Skills can be listed in bullet form.
9. Heading #4 in bold - “Work History”
10. List your previous jobs with the dates employed (eg: 2001- 2005). Make sure to include your job title and the company name, city and province.
11. Heading #5 in bold - “Community Involvement”
12. List any volunteer activities you may have done as they show you are a community minded person.
13. List any hobbies which show that you are active.
14. End your resume with the line “References available on request”. Have your references ready in case you are asked. Your references should be people you have worked for or volunteered with. Family and friends are more likely to exaggerate your abilities.
15. Save to your USB memory stick as “Resume”
16. Print a copy
17. Close

Tip: The ideal resume is one page long. Two pages are acceptable if you have extensive training and skills. If you have had many jobs or gaps in your employment history, it may look as if you are an unreliable worker. There are valid reasons for gaps or changing jobs often such as a health crisis, short term contracts, plant closures or having children. Be prepared to answer those questions and be honest at all times. If you have been fired from a job wait until the interview to acknowledge it and explain what happened. Admitting fault and what you have learned from the situation goes a long way to rebuild your credibility.
