

Planning Worksheets for Asian Studies Students

Asian Studies Major (page 1)

Chinese Major (page 2)

Japanese Major (page 3)

Asian Studies Concentration (page 4)

Name: _____ Date: _____

Asian Studies Major

- Two courses in Chinese or Japanese above 112 or its equivalent* _____
- ASIAN 397 or 399: _____

(or in special circumstances, another 300 level ASIAN course approved by the Department Chair in consultation with the instructor)

- Six elective courses concerning Asia (including Asian Conversations courses):
List all six courses here, then make sure you meet the specifications below.

Of the six courses listed above, make sure:

At least two at level II or III taken on campus: _____;

No more than two at level I;

No more than four elective courses (of the above) about any one country;

No level I or II language courses may count.

If you completed your language requirement by proficiency testing, you need
One additional elective course on Asia: _____ (8 courses in total)

Chinese Major (click here for a full planning sheet)

- Four core language courses (CHIN 231, 232, 301, 302):

- One language course above CHIN 302: _____

(such as CHIN 320: Special Topics in Chinese, CHIN 351: Chinese Language and Society through the Media, or CHIN 360: Professional Chinese)

- Four elective courses, taught in English, focused on China/Chinese language and culture:

List all four courses, making sure you meet the specifications below:

Of the four courses listed above, make sure:

At least one must examine transnationalism/regionalism/global perspectives:
_____;

At least one must be 300-level: _____;

No more than one may be 100-level;

One may be an independent study or an Asian Studies senior seminar (ASIAN 397 and 399);

The Asian Conversations sequence (ASIAN 210, 215/216, 220) may count for no more than two.

Japanese Major (click here for a full planning sheet)

- Four core language courses (JAPAN 231, 232, 301, 302):

- One language course above JAPAN 302: _____

(such as JAPAN 320: Special Topics in Japanese, or an equivalent course taken during an approved study abroad language program)

- Four elective courses, taught in English, focused on Japan/Japanese language and culture:

List all four courses, making sure you meet the specifications below:

Of the four courses listed above, make sure:

At least one must examine transnationalism/regionalism/global perspectives:

_____;

At least one must be 300-level: _____;

No more than one may be 100-level;

One may be an independent study or an Asian Studies Senior seminar (ASIAN 397 and 399);

The Asian Conversations sequence (ASIAN 210, 215/216, 220) may count for no more than two.

Asian Studies Concentration

- Six courses focused on Asia are required.

List the six courses here, then make sure you meet the specifications below:

Of the six courses listed above, make sure:

At least two at 200-level or 300-level must be taken on campus:

One Asian language course may count toward this concentration: _____

Asian Studies/Chinese and Asian Studies/Japanese Double Major

For double majors, the following courses can count for both majors:

- Language courses 231 and 232;
- Two of the three Asian Conversations courses would count toward the language majors (ASCON 210 and ASCON 215; ASCON 220 would count for the Asian Studies major);
- Two 300-level language courses;
- One 300-level approved, Asian-related subject area course outside of Chinese or Japanese.